WHAT IS DH?

Digital humanities (DH) is the study of culture using digital methods and also the study of digital culture. In digital humanities, we analyze cultural materials and tell stories using digital technologies while maintaining a critical lens.

WHY DO DH?

- + Tell stories that matter with digital tools and materials
- + Center humans in data analysis
- + Connect with communities around the world, through study abroad, faculty-led projects, and internship opportunities
- + Explore methods such as text analysis, computational image analysis, mapping, network analysis, and more
- + Gain hands-on experience doing projects
- + Collaborate in interdisciplinary teams
- + Build a portfolio of digital work for the job market or graduate school
- + Bring a technical edge to humanities study
- + Develop skills, such as website creation, data analysis and visualization, project management, and more
